

RICH JULIANO
Vice President
American Road & Transportation
Builders Association (ARTBA)

Rich Juliano is Vice President for Chapter Relations & Grassroots Programs for the American Road & Transportation Builders Association (ARTBA). He also functions as Managing Director of the Contractors Division, ARTBA's largest membership division. He is ARTBA's chief liaison to its affiliated chapters, the U.S. Department of Transportation (especially the Federal Highway Administration), and other Executive Branch agencies. He staffs several ARTBA committees and serves as treasurer of its federal political action committee.

Prior to joining ARTBA in 2002, Rich served as White House Liaison at the U.S. Department of Transportation. For his service during and after the events of September 11, 2001, Secretary Norman Y. Mineta awarded him the Transportation 9/11 Ribbon.

Rich is a native of the Cleveland, Ohio, suburbs. As an undergraduate at the University of Chicago, he majored in Public Policy, graduated with Honors, and was elected to Phi Beta Kappa. Rich also earned a law degree from the University of Chicago Law School in 1998, and worked at law firms in Chicago and Washington as a summer associate.

In 2000, Rich served as Deputy Chairman of the Illinois Republican Party during the Presidential campaign season, when he functioned as the principal Illinois liaison to the national Bush-Cheney campaign.

Rich resides in Vienna, Virginia, with his wife, Erika, and their two daughters. Besides his family, his outside interests include jazz piano, Cleveland Indians baseball, classic comedy, political history, and collecting anything relating to those fields.
