

SIDNEY C. CALLOWAY
Vice Chairman
Florida Transportation Commission

An accomplished litigator in both the public and private sectors, Sidney Calloway is a partner in the Government Law Practice Group of the Fort Lauderdale office. The strength of his work for municipalities, public agencies and government bodies has led to a prominent role at the state level, including his current position as Governor Jeb Bush's appointee to the Florida Transportation Commission, where he presides as the commission's elected secretary. In 1998, he was also appointed by Governor Lawton Chiles to serve on the Commission on Legislative Reform of Judicial Administration.
